

LAUNCHING TWO DRIFTERS CONSULTANTSEA

* Expert Advice and Support for Bluewater & Adventure Sailing ****

February 2025 - Anyone planning a sailing adventure will appreciate that turning the dream into a reality is no easy feat. It takes time, expertise and know-how to get a boat and crew safe and ready, before casting off the dock. To help boat owners and skippers with this challenge, Two Drifters has launched a service to guide, mentor and train those who aspire to bluewater cruising and adventure sailing.

Two Drifters ConsultantSea offers a tailor-made service for all aspects of adventure sailing. From how to buy a suitable boat for an ocean crossing, through to kitting it out with the right equipment, sails and dinghy. They can assess and advise on safety at sea, maintenance, weather planning, and round-the-world route planning.

Husband and wife team, Fergus Dunipace and Jenevora Swann are the sailing experts behind Two Drifters. For eight years, they had an extraordinary adventure, while sailing halfway around the world on their Lagoon 440 catamaran. Their passion for sailing took them from Greece to Australia - via the USA, Caribbean, South America, Central America and the South Pacific – on a 35,000-mile journey, crossing two oceans and taking in five continents.

Fergus, a qualified MCA marine engineer and also an RYA-accredited instructor and Ocean Yachtmaster, says: "Drawing on our own offshore experiences, our aim is to advise and mentor others, so they can achieve their bluewater cruising ambitions. We also offer training in how to handle offshore passages, and can even be onboard to help with the first night watch or long passage, which can be daunting for many."

Jenevora comments: "Before we set off on our adventure, I would have loved the opportunity to learn more about the cruising lifestyle. I had no idea how to safely equip a boat, let alone provision for an offshore passage or even sail double handed. Having someone to advise and support me would have really helped."

Adding to their offshore adventures, Fergus and Jenevora have recently worked as an event management couple for the World Cruising Club. Their focus was on the World ARC (a popular round-the-world sailing rally), where they were the shoreside team helping boats sail from St Lucia to Australia. They were also on the management team of the last two annual transatlantic ARC+ rallies, assisting 95 boats and over 450 crew, each year, to sail across the Atlantic Ocean from Gran Canaria to Grenada, via Cape Verde.
